Introduction

The Greenville Foundation has been involved in family philanthropy for almost 50 years. The original charitable trusts which evolved into today's Foundation were organized in the early 1950s. Early grant applications were often discussed and approved around the dining room table. In 1993 the Greenville Foundation was reorganized as a non-profit public benefit corporation.

Today the Greenville Foundation remains a true family foundation. The current membership consists of about twenty third and fourth generation descendants of the original donors, with yet another generation rapidly coming of age. Family members serve on the Program Committees which evaluate proposals in the Foundation's chosen areas of focus: Education, Environment, Human & Social Issues, International, and Religion. In addition, the Greenville Foundation's Board of Directors is comprised of elected family members who oversee the ongoing operations of the Foundation.

However, unlike the early days, Greenville is no longer a dining room operation. Having grown to roughly $20 million in assets and expecting to approve over $900,000 in grants in 2001, the extended family needs help. In 1994 the Foundation engaged Virginia Hubbell Associates, a team of philanthropic professionals, to provide their administrative and program expertise, and manage the Foundation office in Sonoma, California. Virginia Hubbell, Anne Fitzgerald and Julie Kenny Drezner serve as Program Officers, providing valuable professional assistance to the family in its work.

The Greenville Foundation seeks to encourage and fund unique, innovative and other needed non-profit programs in an effort to address problems facing the local and global human community. In many cases, the Foundation attempts to emphasize programs aimed at those parts of this community least able, for whatever reasons, to act on their own behalf.

Grants are awarded in accordance with Greenville's five specific fields of interest and the various committees' funding interests and guidelines. Prospective applicants are encouraged to read these guidelines, as they give a sense of our priorities.

Application Process

Who Is Eligible?

Applicants must be nonprofit organizations as classified under section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Service Code. Grant proposals from non-U.S. organizations must include a U.S. based fiscal agent. For more information about the purpose of a fiscal agent and suggestions for finding one please see the helpful information at The Foundation Center's web site: http://fdncenter.org/onlib/faqs/fiscal_agent.htm

Grants are made for a one-year period. Organizations that have received a grant are eligible to reapply at the conclusion of the grant period only if a final report on the previous grant has already been submitted to the Foundation.

What We Fund

The Foundation normally provides support for special projects, not for general operations. Current program priorities which include non-U.S. funding are: environment and international.

Specific funding interests are reflected in this document. Inquiries are carefully reviewed and evaluated against these specific funding interests. We would appreciate your very close attention to the current funding interests as described within each program area of this annual report.

What We Do Not Fund

Due to limited funds the Foundation does not make grants for: scholarships, individuals, venture capital, capital improvements, endowments, general classroom-based environmental education programs, individual species preservation, health, food banks, or temporary shelter.

Geographic Limitations

In view of the fact that the Greenville Foundation is located in the West, practicality dictates that proposals for domestic projects be located west of the Rockies. A limited number of grants may be made outside this area. Some of those may be for projects of national impact in our fields of interest. Grants for international programs will be made only through U.S.-based or affiliated nonprofit organizations, and for projects as specifically defined in the Foundation's International and Environment Funding Interests printed later in this document.

Letter of Inquiry Requirements

The Greenville Foundation application process begins with a brief Letter of Inquiry which consists of the grant application Cover Sheet and a two to three page narrative project description. Applicants will be notified by mail of the Foundation's interest in receiving a full proposal. The letter we send will detail what materials are required for the full proposal. Please note that there is a very short turn-around time for submitting a full proposal.

Deadlines

The Foundation has two grant cycles per year. Letters of Inquiry must be received in the Foundation office by 5:00 P.M. Pacific time on or before April 1st or October 1st. If the deadline falls on a weekend, the due date is the next business day. Early submissions are encouraged. Faxed or e-mailed proposals cannot be accepted.

Grantmaking Timetable

Grants are awarded twice yearly. Letters of Inquiry are evaluated by staff and by program committees composed of Greenville members and directors. Final decisions on grant requests received in the Foundation office on or before April 1st will be announced no later than mid-November. Funds will be available in December. Final decisions on grant requests received on or before October 1st will be announced no later than mid-May. Funds will be available in June.

Grant Amounts

Grant amounts generally range from $5,000 to $25,000. A typical grant is $15,000.

Greenville Foundation Grant Application Cover Sheet Hints

The Greenville Foundation Application Cover Sheet consists of one page (the reverse side of this physical page). It is included here for your convenience. You are encouraged to remove and use this Cover Sheet, make a copy of the Cover Sheet, or download the Cover Sheet from the Greenville Foundation web site:

www.greenville-foundation.org

Available downloadable formats include Adobe Acrobat PDF, Microsoft Word, and RTE.

Non-U.S. organizations

Please note that grant proposals from non-U.S. organizations must include a U.S. based fiscal agent. For more information about the purpose of a fiscal agent and suggestions for finding one please see the helpful information at The Foundation Center's web site:

http://www.fdncenter.org/learn/faqs/fiscal_agent.html

How To Apply

A Letter of Inquiry must include TWO packets of the following items. Please do not bind or staple any of these materials, or print on two sides (this allows us to make two-sided copies efficiently). Please use at least a 12 point size font. Faxed or e-mailed requests cannot be accepted.

- The Greenville Foundation Grant Application Cover Sheet. We rely heavily on this form. If you do not have one please download the form from the Foundation web site or call the Foundation office.
- The Narrative Project Description: Prepare a two to three page (maximum) detailed description of the project for which you are seeking funds. Is it a new project or expansion of an existing project? What are the goals, objectives, strategies and time line? Whom will it serve and how? Do you hope to achieve a systematic or societal change? What are the qualifications of the project leadership?
- Other Required Attachment: IRS 501(c)(3) federal tax exemption letter.

REMINDER: PLEASE SEND TWO COMPLETE PACKETS.

Send your Letter of Inquiry to:

Environment

The Foundation is convinced that environment grant dollars can have the most far-reaching impact when directed toward keystone issues and those that have previously attracted less attention and support. Such issues, if left unaddressed, will continue to act as significant roadblocks to the broader societal goal of comprehensive environmental stewardship. Greenville is also concerned with how these strategic issues should best be approached. Lasting solutions are won through processes that address the concerns of all stakeholders.

Funding Interests

LINKAGE OF ECOSYSTEMS AND ECONOMICS

Human communities and natural environments are interdependent. The Foundation is interested in projects that address this fact by developing win-win solutions: collaborative approaches that provide for both the long-term stewardship of natural resources and the well-being of communities that are economically and socially reliant on these resources. Successful grants will assist these communities in their transition to sustainability while protecting the full spectrum of natural elements that make up healthy ecosystems.

ALTERNATIVE ENERGY

Projects that support the development of non-polluting renewable energy options in:

- Communities that are currently dependent on fossil fuels, nuclear, and hydro energy.
- Developing countries, where energy demand is mushrooming. The introduction and demonstration of these options have the potential to avoid the future necessity of large-scale conversion by exposing sustainable choices to these communities before a commitment has been made to expand the use of traditional energy sources.

International

The Foundation believes that global security is achieved through improving the conditions that support and enhance peace and reconciliation and an individual's quality of life. Cognizant of, and concerned about, the deteriorating conditions and growing needs of individuals worldwide, the Foundation seeks to support programs that promote a spirit of self-determination, self-sufficiency, dignity and harmonious human relations.

Funding Interests

TO ACHIEVE ITS GOALS THE FOUNDATION SUPPORTS:

Community development projects that enable individuals or groups to act on their own behalf. The Foundation lends special attention to programs that seek to reduce poverty, enable women to improve the quality of their lives, and encompass small-scale sustainable agriculture.

Conflict resolution projects that encourage individual, family and/or community reconciliation in order to heal wounds resulting from loss, conflict and civil war and to establish or rekindle the conditions of trust necessary for peaceful coexistence.

International applicants are required to have a United States based fiscal agent and are required to submit information pertaining to their fiscal agent. The Foundation will not accept, or consider, international applications that do not have a United States based fiscal agent.
