Gordon and Betty Moore Foundation

Established in September 2000, the Gordon and Betty Moore Foundation seeks to advance environmental conservation, scientific research, and patient care. The Gordon and Betty Moore Foundation is among the 10 largest foundations in the U.S. and one of the largest private funders of environmental conservation and science in the world.

The Foundation is devoted to the inspirational vision articulated by our founders: “creating positive outcomes for future generations.” This vision guides our mission: to achieve significant, lasting, and measurable results in environmental conservation, science, and patient care—globally and in the San Francisco Bay Area. A set of core values—impact, integrity, disciplined approach, and collaboration—directs our work.

The Foundation carries out its work through the following frameworks:

Programs: The enduring management unit designed to achieve transformational change in a selected field of interest through a portfolio of integrated interventions (initiatives, commitments, grants, and other strategic actions).

Initiatives. Initiatives are built around well-developed strategies for concentrated investments, focused on the long-term and achieving significant impact. Initiatives are characterized by a portfolio approach to grantmaking, and other engagements of the Foundation, to pursue ambitious, large-scale outcomes.

Program grants. The Foundation funds experimentation, focused innovation, and agile response to time-sensitive, high-impact opportunities in its areas of focus.

Betty Irene Moore Nursing Initiative

The Betty Irene Moore Nursing Initiative has a goal of improving the quality of nursing-related patient outcomes in Northern California through a cutting-edge, data driven approach. The Initiative is a $150 million effort over 10-plus years (concluding in 2015) that seeks to accomplish its goals by working with grantees and other stakeholders to develop a larger, more highly skilled registered nursing (RN) workforce, by implementing more effective hospital practices, and by improving care transitions.

The goal of the Initiative is to measurably improve nursing-related patient outcomes in the San Francisco Bay Area counties of Alameda, Marin, San Francisco, San Mateo and Santa Clara and in the Greater Sacramento counties of Amador, Nevada, Placer, Sacramento and Yolo.
